Intimate Partner Violence Among Hispanic and Latina Populations (webinar)

July 23, 2021
10:00am - 12:00pm (ET)

Course Description: Since the beginning of 2021, there have been 21 feminicides of women for reasons of gender. The spread of gender violence has reached levels of urgency such that the Governor of Puerto Rico, Pedro Pierluisi, declared a state of emergency for the island. While interpersonal violence is a global issue, this session focuses on how to support professionals who work with individuals within Hispanic/Latina communities who are experiencing gender-based violence.

This two-hour interactive webinar will identify the dynamics of Intimate Partner Violence, social services to support, explore how an on-site safety plan can be a resource for victims, and inform on culture and trauma informed strategies that support Latina victims of intimate partner violence.

Trainer: Diana Padilla
